From the Professional Development Training: Philosophy of Christian Education

“The training on Friday was very excellent. I appreciated so much about it -- the content, the style of delivery, the engagement activities, the high-quality handout. It was a fine example of the kind of PD that we should be doing. Your style is very "easy on the ears" and your many stories helped to keep the content relevant and timely.”

“The Philosophy of Christian Education course was so informative and interesting. Jonathan is a wonderful communicator and the time flew by as we learned why teaching from a Biblical worldview is so important. I feel blessed to be able to sit under the teaching of Jonathan and look forward to more professional development courses at our school.”

“I've been attending seminars and 3-week courses on the subject for 40 years and this was the most valuable and engaging one ever.”

“I enjoyed the presentation greatly and I thought it was thoughtfully constructed. The handout was comprehensive and yet not tedious.”

“Jonathan does a great job mixing together an engaging delivery with practical information.”

“Jonathan was great, very relatable. I felt like he took me to church without actually being in church. I enjoyed his presentation, organization and efficiency.”

“Course is very clear and practical, not wordy or heavy -- useful!”

“Jonathan is knowledgeable, personal, and a great presenter. The course is interactive as well. The outline was a great tool to take notes. I highly recommend this course to teachers of any grade level!”

“Even though Jonathan did not delve deeply into the philosophy main, he had accurate understanding of philosophy which he could appropriately use in his discussion of Christian education. He walked us through the philosophy of Christian education with balanced treatment of the principles, different views and real-life situations---all in light of the biblical worldview. His course was lively, fun and stimulating.”
